New EU Alliance calls for a Social and Sustainable Europe

Brussels, 07 April 2014 - The new EU Alliance for a democratic, social and sustainable European Semester, a broad coalition bringing together environmental, social and equality NGOs and trade unions, holds its launch in the EESC. Highlighting the failure of the Europe 2020 Strategy commitments and official targets in the social, environmental, employment and equality fields, the Alliance members come together to call for progress on the Europe 2020 Strategy's commitments and for reviving the involvement of civil-society organisations and trade unions in the shaping of European policies.

"Our Alliance believes that the EU can offer a positive agenda, if the Europe 2020 Strategy is put at the heart of EU policy, making smart, sustainable and inclusive growth with delivery on the social and environmental targets and a real commitment to equality the key goal," said Barbara Helfferich on behalf of the EU Semester Alliance. "Effectively engaging civil-society stakeholders in these processes is key to get sustainable policy solutions at national and EU level, as well as reinforcing much-needed legitimacy of the EU. We are offering the partnership of thousands of our member organisations across the EU to make this happen," said Barbara Helfferich.

The EU Semester Alliance, referring to the European Semester, which is the driving decision-making process of the Europe 2020 Strategy, aims to support progress on the Europe 2020 Strategy's social and environmental commitments. For the Alliance, the legitimacy of the EU Strategy is at stake and can only be restored through 1) the engagement of environmental, social, equality organisations and trade unions in EU decision-making and 2) the contribution of all policies, including macroeconomic, to the social, environmental targets and equality commitments of the EU's Strategy (Europe 2020), at EU and national levels.

The launch comes at a timely moment as the European Commission prepares its Mid-Term Review of the Europe 2020 Strategy<sup>1</sup>, recognizing that progress on the social and environmental Europe 2020 targets<sup>2</sup> has been dismal, with a backward slide on the poverty and employment targets, with 8 million more people in poverty, and a declining employment rate of 68.4%, and limited progress on early school leaving (12.7%) and on greenhouse emissions. The Commission also recognized the need to get greater ownership and involvement of stakeholders, if progress is to be made.

The event will also be the occasion for the EU Semester Alliance members to present their joint analysis of the 2014 Semester.
